LECTURES

KINGS COUNTY HOSPITAL CENTER FOR CANCER CARE

Understanding and Managing Cancer-Related Pain

Wednesday, November 15; 2017; 1:30pm-3pm
Facilitator: Neena Kapoor-Hintzen, NP,
Memorial Sloan Kettering's Supportive Care Service

Not all cancer patients will experience pain, and those who do, experience pain in different ways. Pain may be related to illness, treatment or side effects and may be accompanied by impaired function, emotional distress and even financial strains. Neena Kapoor-Hintzen, will give an overview of cancer-related pain and will talk about some of the more effective management strategies available, including: medications, physical therapy, exercise and integrative medicine. You will also learn who should be a part of your comprehensive pain management team. We will hold a question and answer period at the end of the lecture.
